Termination of the Advisory Relationship – Financial Consulting Service: This Agreement will continue in effect until terminated by either party by 30 days written notice to the other. Mutual Fund & Exchange Traded Fund (ETF) Fees: All fees paid to us for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, money market funds and/or ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee and other fund expenses. You could invest in a mutual fund directly or an ETF through a brokerage account, without our services. In that case, you would not receive the services provided by our firm which are designed, among other things, to assist you in determining which mutual fund or ETF is most appropriate to your financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, you should review both the fees charged by the funds, trading fees, and our fees to fully understand the total amount of fees you would pay and evaluate the advisory services we provide.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to our advisory fees, you are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker-dealers, including, but not limited to, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, transfer fees and any transaction charges imposed by a broker-dealer with which we effect transactions for the client's account(s). Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of this Form ADV for additional information.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

We work with Astoria Portfolio Advisors, LLC, a third-party investment advisory firm, which augments our research capabilities and assists us in building portfolios that are designed to align with our clients' risk and return profiles. Together, we use the following methods of analysis in formulating our investment advice and/or managing client assets:

Asset Allocation. Rather than focusing primarily on securities selection, we attempt to identify an appropriate ratio of primarily exchange traded fund securities that represent asset classes to include equities, fixed income, commodities, alternatives and cash to meet clients' investment goals and risk tolerance.

Portfolios may be augmented with alternative asset classes including but not limited to real estate, private equity, and/or hedge funds. These asset classes may be added due to their low correlation to the performance of clients' core liquid portfolios. These investments may be purchased by clients meeting certain qualification standards. Investing in these involves additional risks including, but not limited to, the risk of investment loss due to the use of leveraging and other speculative investment practices and the lack of liquidity and performance volatility. In addition, these funds are not required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors and may involve complex tax structures and delays in distributing important tax information. Clients should be aware that these funds are not liquid as there is no secondary trading market available. At the absolute discretion of the issuer of the fund, there may be certain repurchase offers made from time to time. However, there is no guarantee that client will be able to redeem the fund during the repurchase offer.

A risk of asset allocation is that you may not participate in sharp increases in a particular security, industry or market sector. Another risk is that the ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash will change over time due to stock and market movements and, if not corrected, will no longer be appropriate for your goals.

Fundamental analysis. Our analysis concentrates on factors that determine value. This strategy would normally encourage purchases in securities that are undervalued or priced below their perceived value. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of perceived value.

Quantitative analysis. Investment strategies using quantitative models may perform differently than expected as a result of, among other things, the factors used in the models, the weight placed on each factor, changes from the factors' historical trends, and technical issues in the construction and implementation of the models.

Mutual Fund and/or ETF Analysis. We utilize macroeconomic models to determine valuations across asset classes and seek to construct appropriate market exposures. Investment decisions are made using economic and fundamental data. We look at the track record of the mutual fund or ETF in an attempt to determine if that fund tracks appropriately with its index. A risk of mutual fund and/or ETF analysis is that, as in all securities investments, past performance does not guarantee future results. A manager who has been successful may not be able to replicate that success in the future. In addition, as we do not control the underlying investments in a fund or ETF, managers of different funds held by the client may purchase the same security, increasing the risk to the client if that security were to fall in value. There is also a risk that a manager can deviate from the stated investment mandate or strategy of the fund or ETF, which could make the holding(s) less suitable for your portfolio.

Risks for all forms of analysis. Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

Our advice generally includes recommendations regarding the following securities. We use the following investments in managing your account(s), provided that such investments are appropriate to your needs and consistent with your investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations:

- Exchange-listed securities
- Certificates of deposit
- Municipal securities
- Variable life insurance
- Variable annuities
- Mutual fund shares
- Exchange-traded funds (ETFs)

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs). ETFs are typically investment companies that are classified as open-end mutual funds or Unit Investment Trusts. However, they differ from traditional mutual funds because ETF shares are listed on a securities exchange. Shares can be bought and sold throughout the trading day like shares of other publicly-traded companies. ETF shares may trade at a discount or premium to their net asset value. This difference between the bid price and the ask price is often referred to as the "spread." The spread varies over time based on the ETF's trading volume and market liquidity and is generally lower if the ETF has a lot of trading volume and market liquidity and higher if the ETF has little trading volume and market liquidity. Although many ETFs are registered as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940 like traditional mutual funds, some ETFs, in particular those that invest in commodities, are not registered as an investment company. ETFs may be closed and liquidated at the discretion of the issuing company. ETFs may carry additional expenses based on their share of operating expenses and certain brokerage fees, which may result in the potential duplication of certain fees. The risk of owning these types of holdings also reflects the risks of their underlying securities. For example, precious metal ETFs (e.g., Gold, Silver, or Palladium Bullion backed "electronic shares" not physical metal) specifically may be negatively impacted by several unique factors, among them (1) large sales by the official sector which own a significant portion of aggregate world holdings in gold and other precious metals, (2) a significant increase in hedging activities by producers of gold or other precious metals, and/or (3) a significant change in the attitude of speculators and investors.

Long-term purchases. Typically, we purchase securities with the idea of holding them in your account for a year or longer, unless conditions allow for us to tax loss harvest in your taxable accounts. We otherwise seek to employ a long-term buy and hold strategy. We generally employ this strategy when we want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class. A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that by holding the security for this length of time, we may not take advantage of short-term gains. Moreover, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

You are reminded that investing in any security entails risk of loss including but not limited to inflation (purchasing power) risk, interest rate risk, economic risk, market risk, and political/regulatory risk.

Item 9     Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

Our firm and our management personnel have no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10    Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Our firm and our management personnel have no reportable Industry Activities nor Affiliations to disclose.

Item 11    Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Our firm has adopted a Code of Ethics which sets forth high ethical standards of business conduct that we require of our employees, including compliance with applicable federal securities laws.

ASW and our personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards our clients, and have an obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code of Ethics but to the general principles that guide the Code.

Our Code of Ethics includes policies and procedures for the review of quarterly personal securities transactions reports as well as initial and annual securities holdings reports that must be submitted by the firm's access persons. Among other things, our Code of Ethics also requires the prior approval of any acquisition of securities in a limited offering (e.g., private placement) or participation in an initial public offering. Our code also provides for oversight, enforcement and recordkeeping provisions.

Our Code of Ethics further includes the firm's policy prohibiting the use of material non-public information. While we do not believe that we have any particular access to non-public information, all employees are reminded that such information may not be used in a personal or professional capacity.

A copy of our Code of Ethics is available to you and prospective clients upon request and at no charge.

Our Code of Ethics is designed to ensure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of our employees will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

Our firm and/or individuals associated with our firm buy and sell for their personal accounts securities identical to or different from those recommended to our clients. Either of these policies creates a potential conflict of interest with our clients, which we are mitigating through our personal trading policy and monitoring of personal securities trades.

To avoid the possibility of front-running, it is the expressed policy of our firm that no person employed by us may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account, thereby preventing such employee(s) from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

ASW has elected to use a single custodian with which to serve clients, TD Ameritrade. Our decision is based on analysis of TD Ameritrade's discounted commission structure, the availability of mutual funds with no transaction fee, trading platforms, electronic reporting, online access for our clients, and financial stability. Not all investment Advisors require their clients to open their accounts with a specific custodian. Our choice of one custodian through which we execute our trades can affect our ability to achieve the most favorable execution of your transactions, potentially increasing costs. In recommending TD Ameritrade as custodian and as the securities brokerage firm responsible for executing transactions for your portfolios, we consider at a minimum:

- existing relationship with us,
- financial strength,
- reputation,
- reporting capabilities,
- execution capabilities,
- pricing, and
- types and quality of research.

The determining factor in the selection of a broker-dealer/custodian to execute transactions for your accounts is not the lowest possible transaction cost, but whether they can provide what is in our view the best qualitative execution for your account.

We participate in the institutional customer program offered by TD Ameritrade Institutional. TD Ameritrade Institutional is a division of TD Ameritrade Inc., member FINRA/SIPC /NFA ("TD Ameritrade"), an unaffiliated SEC-registered broker-dealer and FINRA member. TD Ameritrade offers services to independent investment advisors which include custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. We receive some benefits from TD Ameritrade through our participation in the program.

We recommend TD Ameritrade to our clients for custody and brokerage services. There is no direct link between our firm's participation in the program and the investment advice we give to our clients. Along with you, we receive economic benefits through our participation in the program that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors.

These benefits include the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount):

duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving advisor participants; the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds and Exchange Traded Funds with no transaction fees and to certain Institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, and technology.

Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the program benefit ASW and may not benefit our client accounts. These products or services assist us in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. The benefits we receive through participation in the program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. Clients should be aware, however, that our receipt of economic benefits creates a conflict of interest and indirectly influences our recommendation of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services. Unless directed otherwise by a client, ASW migrates client accounts to custody their assets at TD Ameritrade and these client accounts are profitable to TD Ameritrade.

TD Ameritrade is a discount broker-dealer independent of an unaffiliated with Advisor and there is no employee or agency relationship between TD Ameritrade and ASW.

ASW's receipt of these benefits does not diminish our duty to act in the best interests of our clients, including seeking best execution of trades for client accounts.

As a matter of policy and practice, Astoria Strategic Wealth does not generally currently block client trades and, therefore, we implement client transactions separately for each account. Consequently, certain client trades are executed before others, at a different price. Additionally, our clients do not receive volume discounts available to advisors who block client trades.

To secure certain efficiencies and results with respect to execution, clearance and settlement of orders, ASW in its sole discretion may elect to combine or "bunch" (also known as a block trade) an order entered for clients with orders entered for the same security for other clients of ASW. However, the commission will be computed as if the order entered for the client was not bunched. ASW in its sole discretion may use the average price at which a security is bought or sold for the clients involved in the transaction when a bunched order is executed in parts at different prices, or when two or more separate orders for the same security are entered at approximately the same time and are executed at different prices. If a bunched order is not executed in its entirety a client may buy or sell less of a security than if the order was not bunched. Similarly, when price averaging is used some clients will get a better price and some clients will get a worse price than they would have received if price averaging was not used. ASW will act in a manner it believes is equitable for its clients as a group when bunching and price averaging. The overarching principle is that no client is intentionally favored over another client that is similarly situated.

More frequent reviews may be triggered by material changes in the funds, the market, and the political or economic environment. Additionally, we are happy to review the plan upon the request of company management.

These accounts are reviewed by one of our Advisors.

REPORTS: Reports are to be provided by the plan participant record keeper.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

It is our policy not to engage solicitors or to pay related or non-related persons for referring potential clients to our firm.

It is our policy not to accept or allow our related persons to accept any form of compensation, including cash, sales awards or other prizes, from a non-client in conjunction with the advisory services we provide to our clients other than benefits discussed above in Item 12.

Item 15 Custody

An investment advisory firm has custody of client funds or securities when it has the authority to access either. We previously disclosed in the "Fees and Compensation" section (Item 5) of this Brochure that our firm directly debits advisory fees from client accounts, giving us a nominal form of custody of our clients' funds. As part of this billing process, the client's custodian is advised of the amount of the fee to be deducted from that client's account. On at least a quarterly basis, the custodian is required to send to the client a statement showing all transactions within the account during the reporting period.

In addition to the periodic written statements that clients receive directly from their custodians, we also provide written account reports directly to our Financial Consulting Service (FCS) Gold and Platinum clients on a quarterly basis. We advise clients to carefully compare the information provided on these reports with statements the clients receive from their custodian to ensure that all account transactions, holdings and values are correct and current.

Certain clients have granted us online access to accounts not custodied at TD Ameritrade such as their 401(k) plan or their 403(b)/457 plan. We have these accounts reviewed annually through surprise exam by a non-related third party Public Accounting Oversight Board standard accounting firm.

Additionally, ASW has custody of client assets, in certain circumstances when a client provides us with a Standing Letters of Authorization to initiate transfers between accounts or to send wires. Whether we have custody is dependent on multiple factors including the destination, sender/recipient, frequency, amount, and variability. ASW follows the guidance provided by the SEC such that it is not required to have a surprise examination of these assets.

Clients may provide login information to us or directly link other accounts (not managed by ASW) to their financial plan which allows them access directly to these accounts via their MoneyGuide Pro login. Liabilities and account balances are updated periodically. Client accounts linked in this manner are not managed by ASW and are not included in the strategic asset allocation. Clients retain sole responsibility for the management of these linked accounts.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

As previously disclosed in Item 4 of this brochure, our firm provides discretionary and non-discretionary asset management services. Clients grant us discretionary authority when they sign our advisory agreement and their custodial agreement.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy, we do not vote proxies on behalf of clients. Therefore, although our firm provides investment advisory services relative to client investment assets, clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client's investment assets. Clients are responsible for instructing each custodian of the assets, to forward to the client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the client's investment assets.

We do not offer any consulting assistance regarding proxy issues.

Item 18 Financial Information

- A. We do not require or solicit prepayment of $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance.
